WHAT THE GAP IS ALL ABOUT

The Graduate Assistantship Program shall be of two types.

1. Graduate Teaching and Research Assistantship
2. Graduate Thesis/Dissertation Assistance Program

GRADUATE TEACHING AND RESEARCH ASSISTANTSHIP

The Graduate Assistantship Program is designed to provide support to graduate students while serving in a professional role. The University's intention is to make the assistantship a valuable and integral part of the student's graduate education. The duties include:

1. Teaching Assistantship

The teaching assistant is expected to participate directly in the teaching of an undergraduate course (teacher aides or tutors) or be assigned to specific teaching-related activities (e.g., assistance in preparation of teaching materials; proctoring tests). This will be a learning experience that will help the student prepare for a professional career.

2. Research Assistantship

The research assistant is expected to participate in research under the supervision of a University faculty (e.g., library search; data encoding). On the other hand, the assistant will be given an opportunity to learn hands-on research designing, data gathering, data analysis or related activities. Specific duties will be discussed with the faculty concerned. In no way that the graduate assistantship be used for private or personal projects of the faculty.

WHO CAN APPLY

In selection of applicants, the following criteria will be used:

- Must be a Filipino citizen
- Must be a bona fide student of the University of the Philippines Manila enrolled in any graduate program.
- New graduate students can apply only in the second semester of the Academic Year. They must have a GWA of 2.0 or better (for master's students); 1.75 (for doctoral students) in the semester prior to application.
- Must not be on Maximum Residency Status (i.e., for masters students, should not be, at the most, in his/her fifth year of enrollment to the University and for doctoral, should not be, at the most, in his/her seventh year of enrollment)

WHAT ARE THE WORK HOURS AND BENEFITS

Graduate assistantship provides a stipend of P50.00 per hour. The work hours will be guided by the student's academic load per semester.

Academic load per semester	Maximum Work Hours
Equal or greater than 15 units	40 Hours
10 units to 14 units	60 Hours

WHAT ARE THE MECHANICS OF THE PROGRAM

APPLICATION PROCEDURE

1. Obtain an Application Form (Application Form A) from the NGOHS and submit it together with a photocopy (present original copy upon submission) of UP Form 5 during the semester of application for assistantship. For those who will renew, a True Copy of Grades must be submitted.
2. Submit the above to the NGOHS during enrollment time but not later than 2 weeks after the enrolment period of each semester.

EVALUATION

The NGOHS will evaluate and process the application forms. The graduate student can commence work only upon approval of the application form/ appointment paper.

TERMINATION

The appointment of the graduate assistant can be terminated for the following reasons:

1. Resignation by the student to continue with the assistantship
2. Failure to perform assigned duties adequately
